EL SARGENTO FELIPE
Edited by
G. RIVERA
Harvard University.

One of the outstanding examples of the criollo in Spanish-American literature, this moving story of a family reflects the life of the people of Venezuela at a time when the country was fatefully influenced by national politics and civil war. Intermediate reading.

RICARDO LEÓN
LAS NIÑAS DE MIS OJOS
Edited by
ALBERTO VAZQUEZ
Dartmouth College.

An entertaining, lively story of contemporary Spain by one of the most widely read living authors in the Spanish-speaking world, whose distinction is his devotion to the traditional spirit of cultivated Spain through the centuries. Intermediate college reading.

EYES SOUTH

War and the Americas, by Professor J. V. Garland. 564 pages $2.00. 1940.

A comprehensive survey of Pan American relations in the economic, social and political fields, this volume contains virtually everything for the reader who wants a sound background from which to judge today's rapidly changing scene. It contains excerpts from the writings of Raymond Leslie Buell, Herman Ruaschning, Cordell Hull, Sumner Welles, Carlos Dávila, Franklin Roosevelt and others.

A readable, clear and comprehensive picture of the Pan American scene from 1823 to 1940, this volume contains divergent opinions by many authorities. It outlines the obstacles to be overcome before complete solidarity can be obtained, but the reader becomes convinced that confederation is not an idle dream.

International Federation of Democracies (Proposed), compiled by Julia E. Johnsen. 263 pages $1.25. 1940.

The outstanding concepts of international federation, with historical background and some representative forms of proposed federation are outlined, and affirmative and negative discussion and classified bibliography are included. Authorities quoted are: Nicholas Murray Butler, Lewis Mumford, Robert E. Sherwood, Dorothy Thompson, and others.

A complete geographical and economic picture of each republic and colony in South and Central America. Gives all necessary information to trader and traveller regarding currency, railway steamship and air service. Invaluable to anyone doing business with those countries. Revised yearly. Published in London. 1942 edition expected in April.
