Sastre: ESCUADRA HACIA LA MUERTE

Edited by ANTHONY M. PASQUARIELLO, Pennsylvania State University. What Eugene O'Neill called "not the relation of man to man but the relation of man to God" is the timely and timeless theme of this play, set in an imaginary World War III. A text edition with notes, questions, and vocabulary, this volume also includes an introduction by the editor and a prologo by Alfonso Sastre. 128 pp., paper, $2.20 (tent.)

Dos dramas de Buen Vallejo: AVENTURA EN LO GRIS, LAS PALABRAS EN LA ARENA

A full-length drama and a one-act tragedy, these two plays by Spain's leading contemporary dramatist are accompanied by an extensive introduction, in Spanish, that includes an analysis of Buero Vallejo's art. Exercises, vocabulary, and footnotes complete the text. 256 pp., paper, $2.95 (tent.)

Audiotapes on Las Palabras, recorded by Spaniards which include a reading of the drama and extensive exercises, are available. Three 5-inch reels $22.50 (tent.)

López Rubio: LA VENDA EN LOS OJOS

Edited by MARION P. HOLT, Queens College of the City University of New York. In one of the most appealing plays of the contemporary Spanish stage, López Rubio treats the role of illusion in the lives of his characters. Suitable for intermediate Spanish, it presents examples of both popular speech and the speech of the educated Spaniard. With vocabulary, exercises and notes. 200 pp., paper, $1.95

Zunzunegui: CUENTOS Y PATRAÑAS

Edited by REX E. BALLINGER, Southwest Missouri State College. Combining richness of vocabulary, humor, and lively imagination, these four "tall tales" draw on the cultural and social aspects of the author's native ria. 202 pp., paper, $2.45

Usigli: CORONA DE LUZ

Edited by REX E. BALLINGER, Southwest Missouri State College. This excitingly antihistorical three-act work deals with the Legend of the Virgin of Guadalupe and the mass conversion of the Mexican people. ## POR DECIRLO ASÍ:

INTERMEDIATE-ADVANCED CONVERSATION

By Beverly M. Enwall, Sacramento State College and Dale E. Enwall, University of California at Davis

POR DÉCIRLO ASÍ offers a step-by-step approach to learning the art of conversation. The reader progresses, in the first section, from simple, factual sentences drawn from dialogues and reading selections, to longer, more complex answers based on Spanish history. In the second section, he answers questions based on a reading selection about Mexico, but here he advances from facts to concepts. In the third and final section, a series of projects dealing with Latin America permit the student to verbalize his own material, to speak from notes, and to develop spontaneous expression in discussing abstract problems which concern the Spanish-speaking world of today. May 1968, 250 pp., $5.25

SPANISH COMPOSITION THROUGH LITERATURE

By Cándido Ayllón, University of California at Riverside and Paul Smith, University of California at Los Angeles

This outstanding volume approaches composition through a close analysis of contemporary literary selections. Each chapter, developed around a passage by a modern author (Cela, Delibes, Miró, Ortega, and others) covers vocabulary, comprehension, style, translation, and free composition. The literary selections reflect a variety of themes and styles to appeal to different tastes and sustain interest. An appendix of carefully selected, annotated English-language passages complement the books including selections by Hemingway, Steinbeck, Dickens, Emily Brontë and Oscar Wilde. January 1968, 350 pp., $5.95

JOSÉ HERNÁNDEZ. Translated by C. E. Ward. A bilingual edition of the most famous of the "gaucho poems," the Argentine genre that did for the man of the pampas what the American Western did to raise the cowboy to legendary proportions.
